Moscow Agrees To Geneva Meeting July 1 To Study Atom Blast Detection

London (AP)—Moscow agreed Friday night that a meeting of experts to study means of detecting nuclear explosions should begin at Geneva on July 1.

Moscow Radio announced that a note agreeing to President Eisenhower's proposals for such a meeting was handed to U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The Soviet aide memoire (reminder note or summary) was in reply to a letter from President Eisenhower to Premier Khrushchev Tuesday.

The broadcast Tass dispatch said both the letter and the aide memoire are being published in Moscow Saturday morning papers.

No Agreement

The Soviet reply expressed regret that no agreement has been reached on a suggestion that Indian experts take part in the meeting from the beginning.

It added: "The Soviet government does not object to the United Nations Secretariat being enlisted to serve the meeting of experts in a technical capacity or to minutes being taken at the meeting."

The Russians said they assumed the work of the experts will be concluded quickly and would lead to agreement on suspension of nuclear tests by all countries.

Taking part in the meeting will be experts of the United States, Britain and France and of the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland Tass said.

Another of a block of 18 administration amendments hanging fire went down by a narrower 47-42 margin, this one offered by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) to require that union officers carry the liability of trustees when handling union funds or property.

In Doubt

Whether a final vote Saturday would be possible despite the aim of Senate leaders, remained in doubt.

Forty-four new amendments, 18 of them administration proposals, were tossed into the hopper at the start of the day, and only 2 of them were among those disposed of in the session which ran more than 12 hours.

WARMTH, RAINS TO CONTINUE

Scattered showers or thunderstorms are expected across the state Saturday and Saturday night, centering in the east Sunday.

Highs are expected to range from 80-85 in the southwest and extreme south and in the 70s elsewhere.

Lincoln recorded the state's high Friday of 82. A low of 47 was reported at Sidney.

In the Elkhorn area of eastern Nebraska considerable flooding was reported following heavy rains Friday. Officials at Elkhorn reported much crop damage with roads under water at some spots.

The Blue River was also being watched for possible flooding following 24 hours of intermittent rainfall in the area.

... Labor Bill

Washington (AP)—The Senate Friday night beat back Eisenhower administration efforts to amend its labor reform bill, and ordered an unusual Saturday session in an effort to bring it to a final vote Saturday.

A move by the administration to give the states jurisdiction over labor disputes in which the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) refuses to act went down to a decisive defeat.

In an about face, the Senate adopted instead an amendment by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), ordering the board to take jurisdiction in such cases, after first rejecting it.

Another of a block of 18 administration amendments hanging fire went down by a narrower 47-42 margin, this one offered by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) to require that union officers carry the liability of trustees when handling union funds or property.

—Senate Committee Acts— 3 State Projects In New $1½ Billion Rivers Bill

... $13.3 Million Salt Creek Work Included

Three Nebraska projects were among those in a $1,556,693,400 compromise rivers and harbors and flood control authorization bill unanimously approved by the Senate Public Works Committee Friday.

The bill includes $1,214,000 for Gering and Mitchell valleys, $13,314,000 for Salt Creek and its tributaries, and $2,125,000 for Shell Creek, all Nebraska flood control projects.

The total proposed authorization is $23,306,600 less than was involved in a bill vetoed by President Eisenhower April 15.

State Sen. Otto H. Liebers, Lincoln, chairman of the Salt Wahoo Watershed Assn., who is currently in Washington, expressed optimism Friday after the Senate Public Works Committee's approval of the bill.

'Early Passage'

After talking with a number of congressmen, Liebers said he finds general feeling "favorable to an early passage of the flood control bill by both houses of Congress."

'It's the general opinion,' Liebers said, "that the Senate and the House bill will be substantially alike so that there will be nothing to stand in the way of getting the legislation to the President at an early date."

Liebers also reported that it was generally believed that the bill as approved by the Senate Public Works Committee Friday and as expected to be approved Monday by the House Public Works Committee will be "acceptable to the President."

Budget Bureau OK

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), chief sponsor of the new bill, said the proposed projects were accepted by the Budget Bureau in discussions with the committee.

The President based his veto of the earlier bill on his objections to some of the proposed projects and to certain aspects of others.

In drafting its new bill, the committee carefully tailored the measure to conform with the President's wishes. But it added 3 other projects that were not in the vetoed bill.

Even if the bill is passed, many of the projects still could not be started until Congress appropriated funds for them.

But others, including the Missouri River Basin, which gets the biggest single authorization of 200 million dollars, have money but are running out of authority to spend it.

1959 Wheat Quota OK Likely

By Charles E. Wieser

Nebraska wheat growers and those in 37 other states will vote next Friday for marketing quotas next year, Everett E. Peterson, extension farm economist at the University of Nebraska predicted Friday.

"I am more sure that the quotas will be approved nationally, although they were approved in Nebraska last year and I think they will be again this year," Peterson said.

The economist based his prediction on the fact that the balloting boils down to a "dollar and cents" proposition. He explained that if two-thirds of the farmers approve marketing quotas, the individual farm quota will be the

Hagerty Won't Say Whether Goldfine Gave White House Aide $2,400 Oriental Floor Covering

Washington (AP)—The White House firmly refused to say Friday whether Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine gave an expensive coat and valuable Oriental rug to his friend in high position, Sherman Adams.

Presidential press Secretary James C. Hagerty was definite, however, on 2 points:

Adams has not handed in his resignation as No. 2 man at the White House, and President Eisenhower hasn't asked him to.

And for the third time in 3 days, Hagerty told reporters: "The President has complete confidence in Gov. Adams."

Contacts Concealed

Adams, former New Hampshire governor, has acknowledged getting in touch with 2 federal agencies on behalf of Goldfine and letting Goldfine pay his bills at hotels in Boston and Plymouth, Mass.

But he has denied — Hagerty said he "knocked into a cocked hat" — what Adams termed insinuations by a House subcommittee that Goldfine received any favored treatment as a result.

Hagerty refused repeatedly to say whether Adams had accepted a $700 vicuna coat and $2,400 Oriental rug as gifts from Goldfine. He said he believes Adams "put on the record all the facts," in a letter the previous day to the chairman of the subcommittee, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

No Mention Of Rug

The letter said nothing about a coat or rug. It mentioned the contacts with government agencies and payment of hotel bills which the subcommittee says amounted to almost $2,000 over 4 years in Boston.

The subcommittee counsel said no evidence has been turned up that Adams received a rug or coat from Goldfine.

In any event, Hagerty said, questions about the rug and coat "have no relation to the issue at point, which is whether there was preferred treatment" of Goldfine by government agencies.

Hagerty left the question of the coat hanging unanswered at one news conference in the morning and another in the afternoon. He did tell the second session he had conferred with Adams about reports that the latter had received a coat. He declined to say what Adams told him.

Dictates Carefully

Dictating his words carefully, the press secretary said he had this to add: "I think the issue here which was raised by the Harris subcommittee is the issue of whether Mr. Goldfine received preferred treatment in federal agencies because of his friendship with Mr. Adams."

"I believe also that Mr. Adams, in his letter of yesterday to Mr. Harris, completely and fully answered those insinuations, and put on the record all the facts."

There was no indication Adams would testify before the House group. Hagerty said others "will completely confirm the facts as outlined by Gov. Adams in his letter to Mr. Harris."

Asked whether it was true Adams had offered to resign if this would save the administration embarrassment, Hagerty replied: "No, it is not."

Terry Hits Secretive Tax Meet

Scottsbluff, Neb. (UPI) — State Sen. Terry Carpenter said Friday night in the wake of the forcible removal of a Lincoln Star reporter (Del Harding) from the meeting of the Lancaster County

Carpenter Board of Equalization "there will be no private meetings" when his state investigating committee is in Lincoln.

Harding was escorted from the meeting Friday morning by a deputy sheriff after the reporter refused to leave when the board ordered him out.

The board met secretly with representatives of 9 Lincoln business firms to discuss their personal property tax schedules.

Cites 1957 Law

Board Chairman Rollin Bailey cited a 1957 law providing that federal income tax information filed with business tax schedules must be kept by the assessor in a place where only taxing officials had access to it.

"The commissioners went a long way to misinterpret the intent of that law," Carpenter said. "It pertains only to one item—the dollar amount of the income tax return."

"When this committee gets into Lancaster County, there will be no private hearings and no star chamber sessions," he said. "The meetings will be open to the public."

FLAG CHANGE COMING?

It's Flag Day 1958 today, but the flag which Harry Ball, past commander of American Legion Post 3 holds here, is not the familiar Old Glory. If Alaskan statehood is approved, the pattern may be changed from stars in 8 rows of 6, to this constellation of 7 by 7. Pansing, Curtiss Head Committee To Keep VA Office Here

By Virgil Falloon

The Chamber of Commerce has named a special "task force" committee, headed by Thomas R. Pansing, to help prevent the removal of the Veterans Administration regional office from Lincoln.

Chamber President Harold Hoppe announced Pansing as chairman and John E. Curtiss as vice chairman.

Hoppe said that through this group, the Chamber would:

—co-operate in setting up the congressional inquiry into this subject to be held in Lincoln next Thursday.

—assist the Veterans Building Corp., in working out new lease arrangements that might be suitable to the VA.

—select members of a delegation to meet with VA Administrator Sumner Whittier in Washington.

Other Members

Other members named were Burnham Yates, Nathan J. Gold, John M. Campbell, John P. Morrow, Robert A. Dobson, and Hoppe, Archie J. Baley, Chamber general manager, will serve as secretary.

Hoppe said the members were selected "for their special backgrounds in connection with the Chamber and the Veterans building group" and will call in others as they are needed.

"They will co-operate closely with Mayor Bennett S. Martin, president of the building corporation, and will consult with veterans organizations and others close to the matter," Hoppe added.

One of the first jobs facing Chairman Pansing and his committee will be the selection of specific witnesses to be requested to testify at the formal hearing next Thursday afternoon before Congressmen B. F. Sisk of California and Phil Weaver of Nebraska.

Designated

The two, as members of the congressional veterans affairs committee, were designated to hold the hearing on the removal of the VA offices to Omaha, when the new federal office building is completed there.

"My first act will be to become familiar with highlights of the 12 years during which the Veterans Administration has had its offices located in its present location," Pansing said. "A meeting of the committee will be called for Monday or Tuesday."

He said there is "very little time to prepare for the congressional subcommittee session, but we'll try to have everything ready for it, as requested."

The subcommittee inquiry at 2 p.m., Thursday, is tentatively to be held in the Chamber building.

Marie McDonald Takes Accidental Overdose Of Pills

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Actress Marie McDonald took an accidental overdose of sleeping pills Friday night, a hospital spokesman said.

She has been staying at the Flamingo Hotel since closing an engagement 2 weeks ago at the Desert Inn.

The hospital said she was in bed in the dark at the Flamingo when she reached over to a night stand, intending to take a couple of aspirin and a couple of tranquilizer pills. Instead, the spokesman said, she accidentally swallowed about a half dozen pills.

When she realized her mistake, the spokesman said, she called a girl friend who summoned hotel authorities. An ambulance took Miss McDonald to the Rose De Lima Hospital in nearby Henderson.

Her stomach was pumped. The hospital later said she was resting quietly and probably would be all right Saturday.

Tax Action Not Pending Against Olney

Foundation Suit Appeals IRB Ruling

The civil suit in the U.S. Tax Court on determination of the tax-exempt status of Olney Foundation, Inc., of Lincoln was brought by the Foundation against the director of Internal Revenue.

No tax suit is pending against Dr. R. C. Olney, chairman of the board of trustees of the Foundation, and there is no Federal Court action against Dr. Olney.

Hearings in the case were held at Omaha last March before Judge Eugene Black of Washington. The Foundation presented its testimony seeking tax-exempt status as a non-profit charitable trust. A decision is expected some time this fall.

The Foundation was formed in 1950 to build Providence Hospital in Lincoln which was opened Dec. 15, 1952.

Application was made to the Internal Revenue Bureau in 1950 for exemption from income tax, but the bureau said action must be deferred until the hospital had been opened for one year.

The subsequent ruling from the Bureau denied tax-exempt status to the Foundation, and the suit was thus brought by the Foundation to appeal the ruling.

Stating that testimony was presented at the Tax Court hearing to show that the Foundation has complied with all requirements for tax exemption, Dr. Olney added that "none of the trustees have ever been paid for their services, and will never be paid."

Suicide Crash Feared

Longview, Tex. (AP)—Airmen Donald Keeton's "suicide" flight from Mississippi in a rented plane was traced Friday to east Texas. But there the day-old trail ended and there was fear he had crashed.

"Please come home, Don," pleaded his childhood sweetheart, Doris Lynn Bowling of Dallas. And meager clues indicated Keeton, 19, had that in mind when he made a hurried stop near Longview Thursday.

Civil Air Patrol craft went aloft to search for the yellow plane with black trim. Maj. Donald Davidson, commander of the Southern Rescue Coordination Center in Dallas, said the State Highway Patrol was making a ground search.

Asked For Gas

Keeton landed the Cessna 120 Thursday at the Premier Oil Co. private airport at Greggton, a Longview suburb. He asked superintendent Earl Cleveland for gas.

Cleveland, who didn't realize it was Keeton until he saw an Associated Press wirephoto of the youth in Friday's Longview News-Journal, said:

"He acted funny. He told me he had flown from the gulf coast but wouldn't tell me where he was going. . . . He was very nervous."

Cleveland directed Keeton to the Gregg County Airport 8 miles away for fuel. But Keeton, his engine sputtering and the light plane gaining altitude slowly, took off in a different direction—toward Tyler, but also in the general direction of Dallas.

Washington (AP)—A bill carrying a 10% pay raise for more than a million government workers won final senate approval Friday, but must wait until next week for house action.

The House was in weekend recess when the measure passed the Senate by voice vote. The House is expected to act on it Monday.

The bill is a compromise version of different measures previously passed by the 2 chambers. It provides a 10% pay boost for 1,021,000 civil service and other employees retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said it was "very bad policy" to grant retroactive pay increases. Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) and John J. Williams (R-Del.) also opposed the measure.

Sodomy Charge Denied By Girl

An 18-year-old Lincoln girl pleaded innocent Friday in Lancaster County Court to a sodomy charge.

Mary M. Rodgers of 2540 Sheridan was charged with having unnatural sexual relations with Vaughn Waln, 20, of Lincoln, June 12. She waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Lancaster District Court under $2,000 bond. She posted bond and was released.

Waln pleaded guilty to a sodomy charge in District Court Thursday, and his sentencing was deferred pending an investigation of the case by the Adult Probation Office. The pair was arrested in a parked car by Lincoln police early Thursday morning.

'Ambulance Chasing' Hearing Set

Monday will mark the first day of hearing on an original action brought in Nebraska's Supreme Court by the state, charging a Minneapolis attorney and several Nebraska officers of the Grand Lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen with "ambulance chasing" in railroad injury cases.

Marco Verbon of Minneapolis will testify for the state in the case, and the former county attorney and county judge of Seward, Paul H. Bek, will hear the evidence for the Court.

Named as defendants in the action brought some 2 years ago are Philip B. Lush, Minneapolis attorney; the Grand Lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and local lodges and some officers at Grand Island, Lincoln, Chadron, Fairbury and Falls City.

The complaint charges that injured persons in train accident cases were improperly solicited for legal business. It alleges a conspiracy through the legal aid department of the brotherhood to engage in "ambulance chasing" and alleges a spreading of fees by attorneys with the laymen.

Attorneys Robert Nelson of Lincoln and John Samson of Omaha have been named special assistant attorneys general for the state in the case.

Rebels Get In Line

... Behind De Gaulle

Algiers (AP)—The French in line solidly behind Premier de Gaulle Friday night. Their decision was made an hour before de Gaulle's Paris radio plea for national support.

A spokesman for the Algiers Committee of Public Safety announced the committee's unanimous vote for de Gaulle and then hailed his radio address as an expression of French national thought. The spokesman added:

"It is time to demonstrate our unity behind the chief of the government."

New Enthusiasm

Pairs (AP)—Premier de Gaulle appealed Friday for public backing on a reform program to strengthen France at home and abroad. Solid support came quickly from a crucial quarter, the insurgent junta of Algeria.

De Gaulle pledged in a 10-minute radio-TV speech that this nation—drifting and embittered when he won power June 1—will pacify Algeria, play an active role in the Western alliance, and get its books in balance.

'Use Brains' To Make UN Work—Furbay

"We should use our brains to make the United Nations work rather than use them to criticize it," Dr. John Furbay, told summer session students Friday at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Furbay, enroute to the University of Hawaii to deliver a series of lectures, maintained that this would be the free world's "honest answer" to Communism's "phony" peace propaganda.

Discussing the 4 major "dreams of man—peace, plenty of food, self-government and human dignity—Dr. Furbay said that if the Communists are the only ones talking about peace or relieving hunger pains of the billion who go to bed each night without enough to eat, they'll surely get a hearing.

"We need a program," he said, "and we need a workable one."

The former college president said that "our honest answer to the hungry peoples is teaching them the scientific methods of farming."

The state chapter has a membership of 573, a gain of 33 over last year.

$2,196 Lost Downtown All Recovered

Thanks to the alertness and honesty of a Lincoln investment counselor, the $2,196.60 in cash and checks lost by the manager of the Safe-T-Glass and Paint Co. at 2045 O Friday afternoon is safe in a local bank.

Anne Kryger, store manager, reported to police she had lost a canvas bank deposit bag containing $170 in cash and $2,026.60 in checks in downtown Lincoln while en route to the bank. A few hours later she was notified that Laurence B. Lunde of 1325 So. 40th had found the bag in the street on 13th between N and O.

The bag apparently had fallen from her car as she pulled from a parking stall. Lunde turned the bag over to the bank, which notified Mrs. Kryger that the bag had been found.

Condemned Con Gives Eyes Away

Raiford, Fla. (AP)—A young convict was executed Friday for a brutal rape-slaying after leaving his eyes to the blind in what he called the one good deed of his life.

The eyes, willed to a charity eye bank in New York, showed no damage from the electricity that killed 22-year-old George Lowell Everett.

They were removed by doctors in an hour-long operation after Everett's death, packed in ice and air expressed to the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration.

The corneas are to be transplanted later into the eyes of a blind person.

Everett in offering his eyes told Supt. Dewitt Sinclair of the Florida State Prison that he had "never done anything good" and he wanted to make this gesture in order to have one good mark to his credit. Sinclair delayed the execution 4 days so legal arrangements could be made.

Worker Injured When Telephone Pole Snaps, Falls

James A. Jacobsen, 20, of 136 No. 31st, suffered a broken left hip Friday in a fall from a 30-foot telephone pole near Plattsmouth.

A Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. worker, Jacobson was injured when the pole broke and fell on top of him. He was taken to a Nebraska City hospital and later moved to Lincoln for hospitalization.

He was listed in satisfactory condition.

Poles on a rural telephone line southwest of Plattsmouth are being moved to make way for a road reclamation project.

$1 Million Wichita Motel Will Speed Building Here

... Plans Likely Within Year

Announcement of construction of a $1 million Wichita, Kan., motel indicates a similar motel will be planned for Lincoln within a year, according to A. Q. Schimmel of Schimmel Hotels Co., Inc.

Schimmel said the announcement means the inauguration of an expansion program that will affect both Lincoln and Omaha.

Although no construction date has been set and no site picked as of yet he said the Schimmel company hopes to formulate plans this year for a $1 million dollar motel here.

He said plans are also expected to be ready in July or August for an addition to Omaha's Blackstone Hotel costing from $1 million upwards.

The motel at Wichita is scheduled to be built on U. S. Highway 54 near the East Wichita Interchange of the Kansas Turnpike. It is to include such features as drive-in registration and a convertible, year-around swimming pool, according to the company.

Schimmel said there are no immediate plans for the property purchased more than a year ago adjacent to the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln. "That property is still under lease and there probably won't be any plans for it for 2 or 3 years," he said.

Schimmel Hotels with Wichita investors Fred C. Reimold and Ralph Weaver Jr., are partners in the owner firm, Motel Investors Inc., of the Wichita motel. Walter Schimmel, vice president of the Schimmel Hotels Co., Inc., will be in charge of the proposed motor hotel.

The Wichita plans definitely signal the beginning of a building program aimed at construction soon in Lincoln, Schimmel said.

City Vehicle Tax Half Paid

Approximately one-half of the city vehicle tax has been paid as the city treasurer's office reported Friday collections so far total $116,381. It is estimated 23,000 to 24,000 tax statements have been paid of the 45,000 mailed out May 1.

City officials estimate $230,000 will be collected.

Father Of Seven Is Shot To Death By Daughter, 17

Mokane, Mo. (AP)—A father of 7 children was shot to death in bed by a 17-year-old daughter, Sheriff Paul O. Goodman said.

Jo Ann Taylor was charged with first degree manslaughter in the death of Joseph M. Taylor, 48.

Miss Taylor, honor graduate of her senior class at Mokane High School last semester, told Coroner Harry Stewart her father had been coming home drunk, and beating her mother. Taylor was a road construction contractor.

Mrs. Taylor said she hid from her husband, and ran from the house. She heard the shooting and returned. There were no witnesses to the slaying. Four smaller children slept through the incident.

The Adams Fairy Tale

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

We have seen a lot of things that have fallen flat on their faces but nothing that has been quite as big a flop as the defense by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams of his dealings with certain industrialists. Specifically, Adams admitted that he accepted the "hospitality" of Bernard Goldfine, Boston industrialist, to the tune of several thousand dollars by way of free plush hotel accommodations.

He also affirmed a report that he personally contacted federal regulatory agencies twice in behalf of Mr. Goldfine. But then, Mr. Adams denies that Goldfine got any favored treatment from any federal agency because of the high administrative intervention. Any such insinuation was "unwarranted and unfair." Coming to Adams' defense was Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty who said that "many of us" in government frequently receive letters dealing with matters before various agencies.

It is common practice, he added, to refer such letters to the agencies concerned and sometimes arrange appointments. Quite frankly, what Hagerty says is a common practice should be far from that. It should not be any accepted part of government for the administration to arrange anything before regulatory agencies.

Routinely sending letters concerning an agency to that agency when they are received by the administration is another thing. It is a far thing from what Adams has done and from the arrangements of appointments before the agencies.

Adams, Hagerty and President Eisenhower are naive babes in the woods if they think the American people are unable to see through the shield they are attempting to build up on this case. Naturally, Adams has not told any regulatory agency to do any specific thing in favor of Mr. Goldfine.

Quite naturally, too, the agencies involved have not said that they took any particular action because of Mr. Adams' interest in that action. But to claim on the basis of this that Adams' intervention had no influence is ridiculous.

When a man goes out in quest of anything, does he not consider himself much more favorably situated if he carries with him an introduction from an influential person? If you can say Mr. A.B.C. has contacted you about this matter and Mr. A.B.C. happens to be a very important individual, you are likely to get a very nice reception.

The regulatory agencies do not have to be hit on the head to understand a situation. They know that if Adams makes phone calls in connection with a hearing before them, that Adams is interested in the case and his interest runs in behalf of the individual or firm involved.

There are undoubtedly more details of the Adams case which have not yet come to public light. But there is little doubt that all the facts will be uncovered before the congressional investigating committee concerned calls it quits. And facts are not very favorable for Mr. Adams. They are, as a matter of fact, a serious indictment of a top administrative official. If this situation is condoned and defended by the President, then his "clean as a hound's tooth" talk was nothing more than empty words.

Not only is this case an indictment of the Eisenhower administration in matters of clean government, but it is a poor reflection upon the regulatory agencies. These agencies, if manned by men of the character expected in those posts, would have it known by the administration, Congress, and all others that they would not tolerate or have any part in influence peddling.

A Reflection On High Places

Failure Of Adjustment?

A prediction that juvenile delinquency will double in the next 10 years was voiced here this week by Judge Philip D. Gilliam of the Denver juvenile court.

That is not the kind of news that puts joy and hope in the heart. But Judge Gilliam holds his ground. He sees a 50% increase due to population growth and another 50% resulting from social concepts that are breeding disregard for old moral and social standards.

Somehow or other the old fashioned youngster who was idealized as a lad who aspired to probity, duty and clean living has been turned into a square, while more desirable modern behaviour calls for cynicism and disregard for the virtues.

Probably Judge Gilliam's gloomy prophecy will come true if the present social drift continues, but it is predicated on the assumption that the nation will not succeed in adjusting to the new forces which are sweeping away the old refuges of a stabilized society. The old morals are simple looking for new anchorages. If history repeats, as it always seems to do, those anchorages will be found.

One has to doubt that there is a real cynicism in the hearts of the youngsters, and would rather believe that it is an unwelcome reaction to a world in which old refuges do not suffice and new ones are not yet clearly visible. That dilemma is equally affecting people who have lived the greater part of their lives.

The principles of the earlier generation are as attractive as ever, but the specific application is what is stumping everyone. And it must be said of this mixed-up generation, its numerous organizations and movements, its greater consciousness of the problem marks it as a harder trying generation than the one which preceded it.

Program Coming Into Focus

Congress looked favorably this week on two significant farm measures.

It went along with Secretary Benson in 75 per cent price support for several seasons to come in return for a limitation on him to prevent further cutting of acreage allotments.

It made a more attractive package of the conservation reserve portion of the soil bank program, allowing a 35 per cent increase in fees to farmers who take acres out of production for three, five and 10 year conservation programs. The provision is expected to woo another 12 million acres into soil building non production, joining 10.5 million acres already in the conservation reserve as the result of 1957-1958 signups. The annual public bill will be $378 million. Offsetting this increased expense is the expected dropping of the present acreage reserve program which presently pays for taking allotment land out of production on a year by year basis.

Whether by intention or by the butting of chance the Benson farm program has moved widely from its point of beginning. It is to be recalled that he proposed to end surpluses and induce parity prices without federal supports by the downward thrust of flexible price supports. That wound up with greater production, fewer producers in the farm program and most often a measure of emergency price supports for a dangerously growing supply of non compliance production.

The refuge now is in retirement of land through the soil bank. It is an expensive system but several cuts in the deck better than the earlier one.

Lincoln VA Probe

Lincoln officials will certainly welcome the announced congressional hearing in this city next Thursday on the proposed moving of the VA regional offices here to Omaha. The hearing will be welcome as it will afford this city the opportunity to set all the facts in the case straight.

There is no secret to the belief that the Omaha move was primarily a political move, part of the game played by that fair city to hook for itself a new federal building. Naturally, to justify the building, Omaha had to have enough agencies to occupy it so they worked out the regional office move.

It will now be up to Lincoln city officials and citizens involved to prove their case. They must be able to show that the office location here will cost the government no more than its location in Omaha. They must be able to show that office facilities in Lincoln compare favorably with those to be offered in the new Omaha building.

There is little question that the operation here in Lincoln has been a success. It is much more strategically located in Lincoln than it would be in Omaha. If in Omaha, it would mean that its services would be just another 50 or so miles away from the veterans who use it. There is no reason to believe that Lincoln will not be able to prove the good sense of leaving the regional VA office in the capital city.

Editorial Of The Day

Inflation's Price

Birmingham, Ala., Post-Herald

The jobless worker, collecting his unemployment insurance in 50-cent dollars, is getting a tragic lesson on the meaning of inflation.

This money is not a dole. It isn't charity or a gift. It truly is insurance which is the worker's legal due. It comes from a fund built up by regular payments from employees—money the worker might otherwise have received in wages.

The national average of weekly payments is $30. Such an income would have pinched, even when the system was set up a little over 20 years ago. But it would have been at least enough to tide a family over between jobs.

The cheapened dollar has turned this insurance into a mere pittance. The worker who depended on it is threatened with the degradation of being forced on relief to feed his family.

Labor unions in particular, it seems to us, should think about this before they hurry to endorse the quick cures for unemployment and business slump, now hysterically suggested.

DORIS FLESON

British Feel Ike Lacks Force

LONDON—On the eve of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's journey to the United States, the London Times published a lead editorial entitled "Waning Force." A column and a half in length, it discussed in detail how President Eisenhower was doing his job today.

It's language was restrained, even charitable, but its conclusion was stark: "What is lacking is a firm and steady driving force."

The Times is no longer the voice of the British government as "The Old Thunderer" was. The London Telegraph much more nearly expresses the party line of the present conservative government. Yet the Times remains highly influential and an important reflection of the thinking in "the city," as the business and financial community is called.

Broadly stated, it is true that the British feel deeply the lack of White House leadership about which Americans themselves complain and which is, with the recession, so largely responsible for the present Democratic trend in U.S. elections.

They feel a greater sense of urgency about it than Americans seem to, perhaps because they are more directly in the path of the stepped-up Soviet economic and trade offensive. In exceptionally frank talks here with American correspondents before he left for Washington, Macmillan developed the theme that he would talk to the President and other high officials in Washington with harsh candor about this challenge.

Macmillan also expressed the hope that he would soon be able to sit down with General Charles De Gaulle and discuss frankly the same topic. He is even willing, he said, to show De Gaulle the British government's bills for its development of nuclear power in competition with the United States. His aim would be to discourage the French from continuing to try to come up from behind in so costly and complicated a race.

As every one who has dealt with this problem knows, it isn't the initial cost, it's the upkeep and the effort to stay ahead. The fantastic cost of space-age weapons and satellites are a very large part of the iron drive President Eisenhower has put into the effort to reorganize the Pentagon for greater efficiency and more intelligent decision.

In part perhaps because he is so cordial and candid, American correspondents here are high on Macmillan. The British perhaps are divided about him, but those in his corner are frank to say that he seems to them, in the light of the American President's health and the French enigma that is now De Gaulle in person, to be more important than a British prime minister has been for some years.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

As Shadows Cast By Cloud And Sun

As shadows cast by cloud and sun
Flit o'er the summer grass,
So, in Thy sight, Almighty One,
Earth's generations pass.

And, while the years, an endless host
Come pressing swiftly on,
The brightest names that earth can boast,
Just glisten, and are gone.

Yet doth the Star of Bethlehem shed
A lustre pure and sweet,
And still it leads, as once it led,
To the Messiah's feet.

O Father, may that holy Star
Grow every year more bright,
And send its glorious beams afar
To fill the earth with light.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Whenever the roll of America's greatest poets is called, the name of William Cullen Bryant comes out near the top of the list.

Most folks, hearing it, think at once of his magnificent poem, Thanatopsis, and then of his other writings, but few are aware that Bryant also turned out beautiful religious poetry and that some of his verses are widely used today as hymns.

"Look From Thy Sphere of Endless Day" is one of these hymn-poems, and "As Shadows Cast By Cloud And Sun" is another. The latter hymn was written by Bryant in 1875 as a Christmas hymn to be sung at the semi-centennial of the Church of the Messiah in Boston, Mass., but because of the sentiment in its opening stanza it was considered appropriate for use at the poet's funeral when he died in 1878.

The Church Today

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Seems a shame that some churches have become such big business organizations that they have failed completely in their original purpose. A minister not only marries and buries, but is to take in his stride the welfare of his people, the sick, poor, and those needing spiritual comfort.

It used to be when a church was needed that men cut tree trunks into proper shapes and placed upon it a thatched roof. Men, women and children sat for long hours on the rough log benches, heard of hell fires and brimstone that the wrath of God would heap upon them if they strayed too far from the straight and narrow. Music was sinful, so the minister "lined" or read aloud the scripture and the congregation repeated in song. The Bible was the base of all sermons.

Time and people change. When a new church was needed, word was passed around. The people gathered and gave without question whatever they could. No one was condemned if it was nothing, and he was as welcome to come and worship as his more fortunate neighbor. The minister knew his people, their needs, and visited among them.

Time pauses not in its flight and each generation changes. The need for a new church is like taxes and death. Whether it is an imposition or a downright inconvenience, everyone's gotta give or you don't rate. Many who cannot keep up with the needs of the home front, missionaries, foreign aid, and what-have-you stay at home, ashamed that they cannot keep up, yet wanting to be part of a church. It is shocking to hear the wistful need of those in hospitals for soul repentance, the need to be consoled by their minister. Often he is too busy to know or make it his business at least to send someone who might carry a message of light.

Neither does the minister welcome the new or old members, nor does he dismiss them with his blessing. The sermons are no longer all of the Bible. They are spiced with puns, politics, and most loosely interpreted as to what is wrong or right, seasoned to the taste of those who keep the tithe box stuffed, least they be offended. There are so many members, he hasn't the slightest idea who they are. He seeks not the sick or the needy or the lonely. There is no outstretched helping hand, just a "gimme" hand.

ANITA CLARK

Urge To Learn

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There has been a lot of discussion about the quality of education in the United States. I agree with the people who feel that students are not pushed as hard as they could be.

Having attended several schools, I feel I have some basis upon which to suggest that youngsters are more capable than some adults give us credit for. I have attended a school that recognized the ability of students. An example of their work is that in the seventh grade, the class read "Romeo and Juliet," "Henry V.," "Richard II.," and Scott's "Invanhoe."

The majority of pupils at this school were by no means geniuses and still we found the work interesting and relatively easy. American children are just as bright as the Russians. Why, then, aren't we allowed to move ahead at a faster rate?

The question always comes up — what about the slower ones? Since there are more average than slow students, why not have special classes for the slower students and let the others move on more rapidly?

Coffee Habit

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I noticed in The Star a few days ago that Election Commissioner Gillet was needing more booths, etc. From what a lot of our friends say, the need is for fewer coffee pots. Every time we vote, the gals are either drinking coffee or just on the way to the coffee pot to fill up again.

I know of one retired business woman who tried two years ago to get on the election board just to be told she was too old, and she was just past 65. Some of the workers would appear to be older than that. But then perhaps the only requirement is to be a Republican and a coffee drinker.

Nostradamus Put Money On DeGaulle

NEW YORK — Here's a flash from page 289 of "The Complete Prophecies of Nostradamus," as translated by Nostradamus buff Henry Roberts:

"De Gaulle, three times surnamed, shall cause Italy to quake. He shall be, above all, the famous premier." It was written in 1555.

The H. W. Gossard Co., who make what mother called "unmentionables," will find an unerring relationship between women's skirt lengths and the country's economic health. When business is good, skirts go up. When it is sour, down they go.

The 1907 panic resulted in the disappearance, under the "fishtail" and long train, of the first timid view of mid-lady's boots. Things looked up in 1915 and, boffo, legs were discovered; waists were eased.

The recession that followed World War I dropped skirts to the ankle. But they went to the knee as the market boomed in the late '20s. By 1933, the pit of the depression, they were halfway down the shins again, with tight belts around the waistline. But in 1940, with things rolling again, they went to 15 inches. The 1947 set-back brought the New Look. Now the girls are showing their knees. Wall Street Journal, please copy.

One of the selling points of Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man And The Sea," starring Spencer Tracy, will be that you'll be able to see it and still walk away from your seat unassisted. Instead of following the recent pattern of super-long bottom-breaking films, Leland Hayward and Preston Sturges have packaged this Warner classic into a tidy 86 minutes.

The great James Wong Howe has shot himself a superb film. For once, Hemingway's meaning and outlook apparently comes through. The old man's search for his fish, his triumph, his terrible defeat is a stirring — if poignant — reminder that man may be defeated but never destroyed.

Education Official Says Red Progress Challenge Up To People

Washington (AP) — Lawrence G. Derthick, U.S. commissioner of education, said it is up to the American people to meet the challenge of Russian progress in education.

Derthick made the statement after reporting that he and 9 other U.S. educators were amazed at the total commitment to education as a means of national advancement which he said they observed during a month's study of Soviet schools.

He said evidences of such commitment were:

School money is available to do the job; classes are of reasonable size; teachers are chosen on a highly selective basis and paid salaries at levels of doctors and engineers; foreign languages and sciences are widely taught; the educational process extends after school hours and during the summer under professional guidance and with direct and continued participation by parents.

First Question

The commissioner spoke to the National Press Club.

The first question put to Derthick during a question-and-answer session was that, now having told of its observations, what was the group going to do about it?

Derthick replied the group had decided it was its job to report the facts.

"It is up to the American people what they are going to do about it," Derthick continued. "The test of a nation or a community can well be the way it carries through on unenforceable obligations."

'Surpass'

Derthick related that the study group found everywhere during a 7,000-mile tour "evidences not only of passionate love of country but a burning desire to surpass" the U.S. in education, production, living standards, world trade and athletics.

He departed from his prepared text to say that the intensive use of slogans such as "Reach and Overreach America" and other means to arouse the Russians to greater effort led members of his group to comment many times "it is just like a nation at war."

IKE MOTORS TO HIS FARM

Gettysburg, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower drove here for a weekend at his Gettysburg estate.

The president arrived after a 2-hour ride, part of the way through a rainstorm.

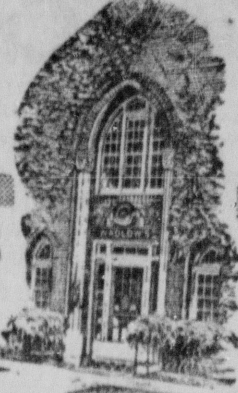

Mrs. Eisenhower and other members of the family, including the 4 grandchildren, came here from Washington earlier.

Golf and other relaxation were the main items on the President's informal schedule.

TEEN POLIO BATTLERS MEET

Salk Hops, Date Bans Used To Spur Teen Polio Shots

By Mary Apking

Did you ever hear of a "Salk Hop" or of not dating a boy unless he hadn't had at least one polio shot?

Well, those are just a few of the ways 18-year-old Patty Hicks of Minneapolis, Minn., suggested for encouraging teenagers to get their shots of Salk vaccine.

Patty, who is national chairman of Teens Against Polio for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has been making a nation-wide tour to stimulate the interest of teenagers and their parents in the Salk vaccine.

As a part of her stop in Lincoln Friday, she presented

2 ASK RELEASE UNDER 'GOOD TIME' LAWS

Two State Penitentiary inmates Friday filed habeas corpus petitions in Lancaster District Court in an attempt to gain their release under the state's "good time" laws.

The petitions were filed on behalf of Donald Galloway, 41, and Brown Shupe Jr., 31. Judge Harry A. Spencer set a hearing for both requests for June 20.

Galloway was convicted in 1938 of second degree murder in the shooting of a transient in a railroad box car at Cozad. His life term was commuted to 35 years in 1953.

Shupe was convicted of burglary in Omaha in 1953, and received an additional one-year sentence for second degree arson in connection with his participation in the 1955 riot and fire at the prison.

Interpretation of "good time" laws, whereby a man receives a diminution of his sentence, has been the subject of several recent court actions — one of which is now pending before the State Supreme Court.

Dallas Hunt of Lincoln, Nebraska Teens Against Polio chairman, a certificate of appreciation for the leadership Dallas has given in the state the past year.

Polio-Susceptible

Statistics show that teenagers are one of the most polio-susceptible age groups and that they haven't been receiving the preventative vaccine.

Patty suggested 2 reasons for this, the first being that teenagers are an "inbetween" group — to old to be taken to the doctor, and too young to want to go themselves, and the second being an ever-present fear of the needle. Teens Against Polio (TAP) has sponsored many meetings, convocations, fund-raising campaigns and other functions to overcome these obstacles and help teenagers to get their shots.

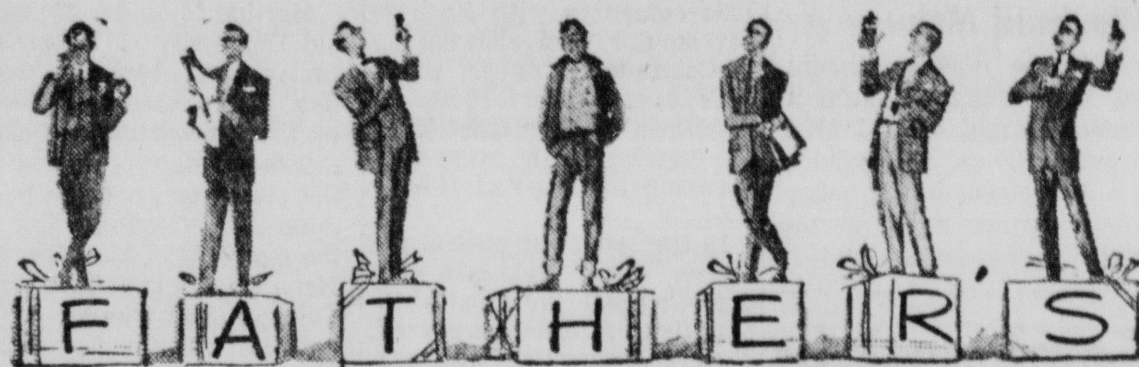

TAP realized that to convince the teenagers, it needed to communicate with them on a "teen to teen" level. Thus the "Salk Hops," the strikes against boy friends and many other things.

Miss Hicks finished her talk with a statement that seemed to sum up the whole TAP program. It was made by a teen-age polio victim from Duluth, Minn., who said:

Please Patty, tell all the teenagers and adults about Salk vaccine so they will get their shots and not look like me."

Highway Crashes Claim 2 More Lives

By United Press International

A one-vehicle crash near Blue Hill, Neb., killed an Osborne, Kan., woman Friday and a 3-year-old Omaha girl Thursday night became the second member of her family to die as the result of a Memorial Day weekend crash.

The Victims:

Mrs. Lawrence Snyder, 41, Osborne, Kan.
Cathy Hall, 3 Omaha.

Mrs. Snyder was killed when the pickup truck in which she was riding left the highway and crashed into a fence 3 miles south of Blue Hill, Neb.

Head-On Crash

A head-on crash at the junction of U.S. Highways 73 and 75 during the Memorial Day weekend claimed its second life.

Cathy Hall, daughter of George Hall, Omaha, died at a hospital in Omaha of injuries suffered in the June 1 accident a mile north of Dawson, Neb.

Her mother was killed outright in the accident and her father and 3 other Hall children were injured.

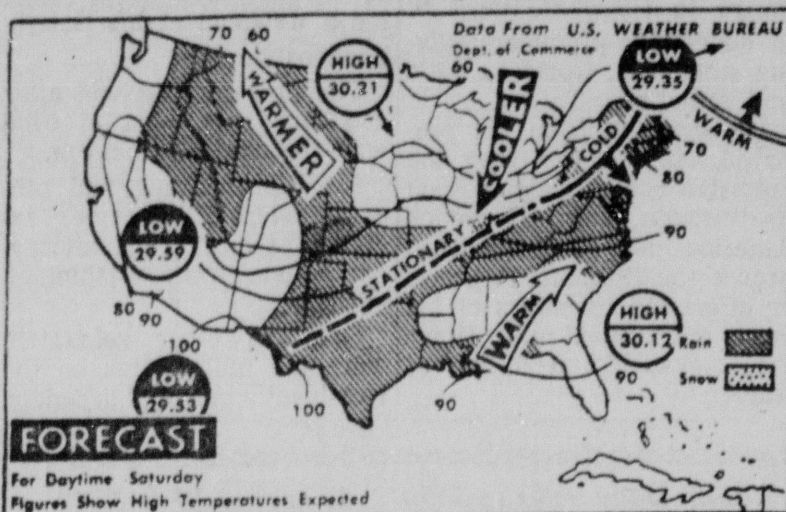

The Hall automobile collided head-on with a car carrying 2 Humboldt youths, Jerry Bryant and Jimmy Masonbrink. Both youths also were injured.

State Safety Patrolman Gerald Lynch said Mrs. Snyder was riding in a truck driven by Merle Glen Walker, also of Osborne. Walker was injured, but Mrs. Snyder's son, Dale, 16, was hospitalized at Hastings with undetermined injuries.

Lynch said Walker told him he and the mother and son were returning to Osborne after visiting Mrs. Snyder's husband, a patient at a Hastings hospital.

The truck skidded on the wet pavement of U.S. 281 on a curve and struck the fence, Lynch said Mrs. Snyder apparently was thrown from the vehicle and her head struck the pavement.

The deaths brought the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 121, compared with 111 deaths during the same period a year ago.

More Showers On Weekend Menu

Rain is expected Saturday over the middle Atlantic states, Appalachians, sections of New England, southern part of the Ohio Valley, the Tennessee and central Mississippi Valleys, southern and central Plains, in northern Rockies, and in the Cascades. It will be cooler in the Lakes area and upper Mississippi Valley; warmer in the northern Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Steps Taken To Combine Jobs Of Three Methodist Executives

York, Neb. — The Nebraska Methodist Conference plans to combine the jobs of 3 of its executives and took the first steps in that direction in the convention which ended Friday.

The 3 are the treasurer, who is now Herman Crowell of Omaha, the executive secretary of the board of trustees, a position now held by Harvey Tompkins of Inman, and the executive secretary of the board of conference claimants, now Carroll Prouty of Lincoln.

The boards of the World Service and Finance Committee, Board of Conference claimants and Board of Trustees met to name a joint committee to explore the merging of the 3 offices. The boards themselves will not merge. The committee will report to the 1959 conference meeting.

Dr. Benjamin F. Schwartz of Omaha announced that the conference unanimously approved continued opposition to legalized and unregulated gambling in Nebraska.

Dr. Schwartz, chairman of the Board of Christian Social Relations committee and former chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan, and his committee challenged Nebraska Methodists to "counteract the pressure of groups that would profit by breaking down moral standards."

Methodists were urged to use the "open letter" technique to alert local communities to the real danger of bingo.

$850,000 Budget

The conference adopted a budget which included $850,000 in conference contributed items. That figure was about 5% higher than the previous year's budget.

It was announced that Dr. Willis Dunn, a Franklin minister, has been appointed a professor at Tampa University in Florida. Dr. Robert Matthews, pastor of the host church, the First Methodist Church of York, will become the pastor of a suburban Denver church.

Three ministers were retired. They were Chaplain T. Reighton Jones, formerly of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Lincoln; Clair E. Van Meter of the Carroll and Winslow churches and S. G. Rasmussen of Milford.

Grasshoppers Discovered In Cheyenne Co.

Sidney, Neb. (AP) — The grasshopper plague which has hit Colorado has thrown quite a scare into Cheyenne County, Neb., farmers. County Agent Ivan Liljegren, and his assistant, Charles Stonecipher have been doing considerable 'hopper research in the past few days.

They have made careful examinations on about 20 Cheyenne County farms and report infestation at some points.

The count runs from none to 50 per square yard in many spots throughout the county. This compares with 80 to 90 per square yard showing up in Colorado. However, whenever examinations show infestations greater than 15 to the square yard, immediate spraying is indicated, they said.

In the southeast part of the county where Nebraska borders Colorado the greatest infestation has been discovered, the county agent says. He suggested that all farmers watch for the insects.

Meanwhile, Nebraska farmers were warned to take steps immediately to control grasshoppers or be faced with a loss.

The 1958 grasshopper threat in Nebraska has a potential equal to that in 1957, said Robert E. Roselle, University of Nebraska extension entomologist.

C. J. Walstrom, state entomologist, reported that recently completed surveys in the southwestern counties of Nebraska showed grasshopper populations very high in pastures, fence rows and field margins.

Walstrom said farmers should not waste time in starting their spray operations.

Bryan Will Set Funds Committee

... To Raise $325,000

The Bryan Memorial Hospital board is slated to meet Monday afternoon to name committee members responsible for setting up a drive to raise $325,000 for the hospital's planned improvements, John Stewart, board president, announced Friday.

The announcement came on the heels of a decision by the State Hospital Advisory Council giving Bryan one of the top priorities for federal Hill-Burton funds when they are made available by Congress.

Bryan has requested at least $900,000 in federal funds to assist in the construction of a new nursing school, 5-story addition to the present building and modernization of existing facilities.

$100,000 Pledged
Gene Edwards, Bryan administrator, told the Council that $100,000 already has been pledged to the project by the medical staff, and that another $25,000 to $30,000 is anticipated from this source.

He said a recent conference with "20-25 leading businessmen of Lincoln" has brought the promise of support for the private subscription drive to raise at least another $325,000 for the hospital's project which will cost an estimated $2,375,000.

While final congressional action is pending, the House has passed a measure which would grant Nebraska $1,276,000 in grants for the 1958-59 fiscal year.

Priority Rating

Prior commitments and 2 higher priorities reduce the anticipated federal funds available for the coming year to a point below that required by the Bryan project, but their priority rating also will give them first call on grants for fiscal 1959-60.

Thus it will be summer of 1959 before construction can get underway at the Bryan Hospital, but this will be only a few months delay from the anticipated start of the project.

The Council's action marks the first time Lincoln has been given the green light for federal funds for hospital construction.

Meet Star Carrier Marvin Rozmarin

Marvin Rozmarin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rozmarin of 934 Moraine Dr., is the carrier-salesman on Route M. 777. Marvin serves the area from A Street to Randolph, and from 56th Street to Elton Dr.

With his income of $36.50 a 4-week period, Marvin is buying a set of encyclopedias, furnishes his own clothes and entertainment, and also allots a portion to a savings program.

Marvin will be a junior at Lincoln High next year, where he excels in the social sciences. One of his major interests is in the field of music where his enterprising nature led him to form a dance combo. The combo has played for several dances, with Marvin leading on the piano. Marvin intends to go on to college after he finishes high school.

He likes the coolness of his early morning route, and believes that the hour a day he spends delivering his papers is most lucrative.

London (AP)—The London County Council has decreed all new buildings must have garages or adequate car parking. The rules for space are: Apartment house, one car for every 2 dwelling units; private house, at least one car; hotel or residential club, one car for every five bedrooms; department store, one car for every 2,500 feet of floor space; theater or concert hall, one car for every 30 seats; movies one car for every 60.

'Patch-Work' Observation Team To Watch Sputnik III

A patchwork observation team will scan the skies over Lincoln Sunday morning in what could be one of the best earth satellite viewing watches of the year.

Prof. Carroll Moore, director of the Wesleyan University satellite observation station, said the third Russian satellite is scheduled to pass almost directly overhead at Lincoln at 4:02 a.m. moving from a southwest to northeast direction.

Moore said the satellite is scheduled to pass over Lincoln at about 97.1 longitude. Lincoln is at about 96.0 longitude.

Moore said this watch should prove particularly interesting — if weather is clear — because 2 stages of the Russian satellite are following one another at an interval of about 5 minutes.

Many "regulars" from the Wesleyan team that scored 6 official and more than 30 unofficial watches during the past 9 months for the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory's Geophysical Year are gone from the Wesleyan campus for the summer vacation period, Moore said.

Volunteers will be used to fill in the vacant spots at the moonscopes, he said.

Pernas Wounded
Havana (AP)—Sen. Santiago Rey Pernas, a close associate of President Fulgencio Batista, was seriously wounded in a gun attack.

Police said 3 youths fired on Pernas as he entered his physician's office, hitting him on the right side of the face.

House Group Sets Stage For Election-Year Farm Battle

Washington (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee set the stage for another election-year farm battle by approving a catch-all bill that already is threatened with a possible presidential veto.

Split along party lines, the committee voted 21-10 to send to the House floor a bill continuing the overseas surplus disposal program and proposing controversial new price support programs for wheat, rice, cotton, feed grains and milk.

Mystery German Fuse Cone Found

Air Police S. Sgt. Clifford Scarberry holds a "mystery" fuse cone found at the Goodman Junk Co. at 19th and P. Lincoln police turned the fuse over to Scarberry, who called in an explosive ordnance disposal specialist from the Lincoln Air Force Base, S. Sgt. Dale Newman. Newman examined the fuse and said it came from an undetermined type of German artillery shell used in World War II, and probably was a discarded souvenir of an ex-serviceman. He said it was not determined if the fuse was "live," but that the Base will dispose of it. (Star Photo.)

Judgment Finding State Usury Law Violated Upheld By High Court

The State Supreme Court has upheld a Boone County District Court judgment which found that the Securities Acceptance Corp. had violated Nebraska's usury laws.

The original action was brought against the Securities Acceptance Corp. and Ray Mahoney, its alleged agent who sold farm implements at St. Paul, by Robert (Bob) Curtis.

Curtis' action sought to have a certain promissory note and chattel mortgage upon a tractor cancelled on grounds that they were given for a loan which was in violation of the state's Installment Loan Act.

The issue was heard Dec. 29, 1956 in the trial court at Columbus where it was decided the decree entered in Platte County should be transmitted to Boone County District Court.

The District Court found that Mahoney sold Curtis a tractor for an agreed sale price of $2,950, and Curtis traded in an old tractor as part payment, receiving $1,180 credit, leaving a balance of $1,770 of the purchase price unpaid.

The district court also found that Mahoney procured a loan from the Securities Acceptance Corp. for the unpaid balance and presented Curtis a note and chattel mortgage in the amount of $2,161.84, payable in 2 installments of $1,080.92.

The note and mortgage exceeded the $1,770 unpaid balance of the purchase price by $391.84, and exceeded the maximum legal rate of interest allowed to be charged under the Installment Loan Act, the District court ruled.

The district court further found that before the note and mortgage were accepted by Curtis, Mahoney informed him that Securities Acceptance refused to make the loan unless Curtis paid $50 more, which Curtis paid.

In upholding the district court judgment, the high court concluded that "the transaction here involved was not made in good faith, but was a device and subterfuge pursued by Mahoney" and the Securities Acceptance Corp., "to avoid the operation against them of the usury statutes."

BACKERS OF ELECTIVE EDUCATION HEAD FILE $3,000 PETITION BONDS

Initiative petition circulators bonds totaling $3,000 were filed with the secretary of state Friday by backers of a move to place on the November election ballot a constitutional amendment making the state education commissioner an elective officer.

Stepped Up Thor Project Pays Off In 2 Launchings

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—A stepped up Thor intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) program apparently has paid off with 2 successful launchings in the last 9 days.

The Air Force, which plans to deploy the first Thor squadron in England before the end of the year, sent another of the 65-foot rockets streaking toward space Friday on what appeared to be a perfect launching.

The Air Force declined to announce the test objectives or the range attempted.

The Thor was designed to carry a nuclear warhead with amazing accuracy on a target 1,500 miles away. It traveled more than 2,400 miles on an experimental flight in October.

The last Thor launching came June 4 when the huge missile was fired from a tactical launching pad for the first time. The pad was a prototype of the stand which will be used under operational conditions.

Lumped in with these features, some of which have drawn fire from Secretary of Agriculture Benson, was a 3-year extension of the domestic wool subsidy and school milk programs and various other provisions.

Two years ago President Eisenhower vetoed a bill calling for mandatory high price supports and a "2 price" wheat program identical with the wheat section in Friday's House committee bill.

The new omnibus farm bill is likely to run into early trouble in the House. A recent upturn in the farm economy and concern of big city members over increased food costs are among factors fueling Republican opposition.

Rep. Robert Poage (D-Texas), one of the Democratic farm leaders, said the bill has "a good chance of passage, but I don't think there's any assurance."

Rep. William S. Hill of Colorado, senior committee Republican, attacked the bill as a multi-billion dollar "hodgepodge of complex programs that is impossible of administration."

Only 10 days ago, Benson called the proposed omnibus measure an "unattractive package" and reminded newsmen that "such bills have been vetoed before."

Rep. William S. Hill of Col-

Building Of State Transmission Line Said Blocked By Loup Power District

Saturday, June 14, 1958 The Lincoln Star 9

Plans affecting the future of Nebraska's electrical operations are reportedly undergoing disfavor from the Loup River Public Power District. Officials of the Loup District apparently are trying to hold up the drawing of new contracts involved in the building of a heavy transmission line into Nebraska from South Dakota's Ft. Randall Dam.

Objections by the Loup District now seem to concern an earlier agreement allowing the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Co-operative, a group of rural power districts, to build the line to a point near Tamora in Seward County.

Refuse To Sign
Troubles reportedly stem from refusals by the Loup District to sign a contract allowing the G & T to construct the Randall Dam line. Although the latest difficulties are not being discussed openly all top power officials admit they exist. Some officials indicate they believe that the difference over the line will hold up negotiations on new contracts which would block the whole package.

Originally an April 1 deadline on the new contracts had been set. Since that time the date has been set back on several occasions with latest prospects aimed at July 1.

Lack Money
It has also been suggested that the Loup and the Platte would like to reorganize the NPPS to enable it to finance the line. At present, they lack the financial capability to do the job.

The contracts in question, would integrate the facilities of NPPS with the distribution operation of the Consumers Public Power District. It has been viewed as a long step toward lasting peace among the state's power agencies.

Cooper Files Appeal In Vehicle Tax Claim

They also propose a route between terminal points Grand Island and Kearney, with intermediate points at Hastings, Salina, Hutchinson, Kans., and terminal point Wichita.

TOWN TALK

—we've done so much whittling on June that there aren't too many of those what-is-so-rare days left — But the brief time that remains is packed with activity of one kind and another, with emphasis on the brides. However, the nuptials and pre-nuptials do not entirely dominate our world of society.

We mentioned some time ago that Mrs. O. J. Fee was returning home from Bangkok—and that her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Fee and their three daughters, were also coming to the States on one of their long, but infrequent leaves.

The Fees, all of them, arrive late on June 23—and on June 25 Mrs. O. J. Fee is entertaining at an open house at Hotel Cornhusker.

—there's another fun party coming up for late June—the party for which Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luikart, Jr., have planned for Saturday, June 28. The guests have been invited for 3 o'clock in the afternoon—with swimming in the Luikart pool the afternoon diversion—and a patio supper at 7:30 o'clock.

—the current week end is well dotted with bright moments, too. This evening, for instance, the members of the Safari Dancing Club will dine and dance at Cotner Terrace—the club's last party of the season. The guest list will include Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seckinger, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schulz, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Stemper, Miss Helen Duiker of Detroit, Mich., and John Ostrowski, also of Detroit.

—Sunday is Father's Day, and the Lincoln Saddle Club is celebrating in the same fashion it honored Mother's Day—with a horse show. This is strictly a Saddle Club family affair, but there is to be an expert in the judging department—Mrs. John Wolford of Rim Rock Farms near Junction City, Kan.

The show, incidentally, opens at 11 o'clock and continues until 4 o'clock.

—on the calendar for this evening is the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Ellsworth will be host and hostess at Tillman's Plaza when they pay prenuptial courtesy to their daughter, Miss Sharon Ellsworth, and her fiancé, Robert Garretson, whose marriage will be solemnized on Sunday. The guest list of 35 will include members of the families, the bridal party, and out of town guests.

—a July bride, Miss Carol Unterseher, whose marriage to John C. Gourlay will be solemnized on July 5, was complimented on Wednesday evening when Mrs. Ben Norris and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Ross, entertained at the home of Mrs. Norris. The guests were invited for a dessert supper, and the bride-elect was presented with a linen shower.

Miss Mary Catherine Vandegrift of Grand Island was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Sherly Reimers and Miss Sarah Smaha, Grand Island, and Miss Sue Hardie of Lincoln. The attendants' alike frocks of yellow pique were fashioned in the sheath mode.

Serving his brother as best man was Merle Schuyler of Coos Bay, Ore., and seating the guests were James Nelson, all of Oakland.

The bride chose a gown of taffeta and Chantilly lace for her wedding. Lace patterned the empire bodice, designed with bracelet-length sleeves.

Mrs. Nelson is an Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Mu Upsilon at the University of Nebraska where Mr. Nelson is a pre-med student.

A bride-elect of Sunday, June 29, is Miss Sandra Karnopp whose marriage to George R. Maul will be solemnized at Southminster Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The prospective bride was honored on Wednesday evening when Mrs. Dwain Way entertained a group of 20 friends at her home. The evening hours were spent informally and a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Karnopp.

Also included among recent courtesies for the bride-elect was the dessert lunch-

Brides At Friday Ceremonies

Lighted white candles in pedestal holders and tall bouquets of white gladioli and Majestic daisies formed the chancel decor in the First Presbyterian Church at Grand Island Friday evening, June 13, for the marriage of Miss Mary Carol Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Huston of Grand Island, to Robert Len Schuyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Schuyler of Eugene, Ore. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. John L. Shell in the presence of 400 guests.

The bride's gown of white embroidered organdy over taffeta was designed in the colonial mode. Floral eyelet embroidery bordered the squared neckline of the basque, and the brief, shirred sleeves were complemented by mitts of the organdy.

Following a reception at Riverside Country Club in Grand Island, the couple left for Boston where the bridegroom will study for his Masters Degree at Harvard School of Business Administration. A June-graduate of the University of Nebraska, he served as president of Phi Gamma Delta and treasurer of Innocents honor society. Also a graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Schuyler is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Meredith Clow of McCook who was frocked in pastel blue linen fashioned in the sheath mode. She completed her ensemble with a white linen hat and a shoulder corsage of white feathered carnations.

Edward F. Carter, Jr., served his brother as best man.

For her wedding, the bride chose a sheath gown of ice blue cotton lace over taffeta.

The fitted, short-sleeved bodice and slim skirt were accented by a waist band of matching blue taffeta caught into a side drape. Her small, blue velvet hat was briefly veiled with illusion, and she carried a nosegay of white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Judge and Mrs. Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter will make their home at 2417 Ryons. Both are attending the University of Nebraska where the bride is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Sharing honors with Miss Paul was Miss Katie McCullough, whose marriage to Jim Williams also will be an event of August. Both honorees were presented a miscellaneous shower during the afternoon.

Miss Patricia Beckman, who will marry Richard Cave at an afternoon ceremony to be solemnized at the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church on Sunday, June 22, is this morning naming the members of her wedding party.

Miss Beckman has chosen as her matron of honor Mrs. Harold Weston of Omaha, and the maid of honor will be Miss Shirley Hornby. The bridesmaids will be Miss Vivian Robb of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Sandra Foell. Lighting the candles for the 4:00 o'clock ceremony will be Miss Bonnie Mallette and Miss Donna Bryan, and the flower girls will be Miss Shirley Jean Weston of Omaha, and Miss Susan Lynn Beckman of Overland Park, Kan. Gary Weston of Omaha will be the ringbearer.

Serving Mr. Cave as best man will be his brother, Joy Cave, and the ushers will include the groom's brothers, Jerome Cave, Phillip Cave and Harry Dreith.

Recently complimenting the bride-to-be at a slumber party were Miss Donna Bryan, Miss Sandra Foell, Miss Bonnie Mallette and Mrs. Lawrence Hawthorne who were co-hostesses at the Bryan home. The twenty guests, who are members of Towne Club, presented Miss Beckman with a miscellaneous shower during the festivities.

On Friday evening, June 6, Miss Beckman was the honored guest at the Gary Moyer home where Miss Shirley Hornby was hostess at a dessert supper and personal shower. A number of the bride-elect's former high school and college classmates were invited to the affair.

Dear Abby . . .

Nothing Else To Do! Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a 20-year-old daughter who pays her room and board so we can't tell her how to act. Almost every night she and her boyfriend sit out in front of the house in his car and talk. He is 25 so I suppose he kisses her now and then, which is no crime. My problem is that the neighbors are talking. I've heard from the ones on both sides of me and also the one who sits in the window across the street. I don't worry about my daughter but I'm ashamed for the neighbors. What can I do?

ASHAMED
DEAR ASHAMED: Your daughter prefers to entertain her boyfriend in the car because she wants privacy. Tell her to invite him into the house and when they find the privacy they seek, your neighbors will have less to talk about.

DEAR ABBY: If photographs can haunt I'm being haunted. I am engaged to a widower who keeps his deceased wife's picture in every room. If I marry this man would he expect me to keep looking at this woman's picture in our home?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: The best time to find out is BEFORE you marry him. Ask him!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister is one of those easy-going kind. She has three kids, 4, 6 and 8 years old, and I have kids the same ages. When she comes over here I have a terrible time getting mine to go to sleep because she lets hers run around until they fall down. Last Saturday night I almost blew my top. My kids fought going to bed until eleven o'clock (because hers were up) and then they screamed and hollered. Hers were still going strong past midnight. What can I do about this?

EXHAUSTED
DEAR EXHAUSTED: Tell your sister-in-law you love her like a sister, but in the future if she is going to bring her kids to your house, they will have to abide by your "house rules."

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried girl 47 years old. I have been keeping company with a divorced man in his early fifties. We both work in a large plant, but in different departments. During the six months we have known each other, he has never taken me anywhere. He just comes to my house for meals and watches TV. Last night he said he couldn't marry me unless I gave him my savings, $3200, to go in business for himself. I worked 16 years to save that money, Abby. His last words were, "Think it over and call me up when you decide." I hate to pass him up because as the song goes, "A good man is hard to find." Please help me.

POLLY
DEAR POLLY: Yes, a good man IS hard to find. You haven't found him yet, so leave your money in the bank and keep looking.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A PERSON IN LOVE:" A diamond with a flaw is better than a perfect pebble. Say yes!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Candlelight Service

At a candlelight service solemnized Saturday evening, May 31, Miss Janis Meerkatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Meerkatz of Dearborn, Mich., formerly of Grand Island, became the bride of Vernon R. Schoep, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Schoep of Omaha. Woodwardia, white stock and pink gladioli decorated the chancel of Trinity Lutheran Church at Grand Island for the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. A. O. Grabner.

Frocked identically in aqua chiffon over layers of net and taffeta were Miss Margaret Meerkatz of Dearborn, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Raymond Schultze, Lincoln; Miss Mary Schoep, Omaha; and Miss Nona Falmien, Grand Island. Miss Kathryn George, Hampton, was the flower girl, and carrying the rings was Gene Bamesberger, Hampton.

Miss Jeanne Woodside, Lexington, and Miss Annette Scheffel, Grand Island, lighted the candles.

Lavern Glover of Kansas City, Mo., served as best man, and the ushers were Roy Christain and Jerry Schoep, Omaha; Jerry Siedschlag and Warren Christiansen, Norfolk, and Keith Meerkatz, Dearborn, Mich.

The bride's gown of antique white silk taffeta was designed in the princess mode. Re-embroidered Alencon lace dotted with tiny pearls formed the bateau neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and the silk skirt was caught into a pouf bustle and extended into a train. A cap of lace held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible clustered with pink rosebuds and Stephanotis.

The bride is a June graduate of the University of Nebraska where Mr. Schoep is a senior.

Afternoon Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Sandra Glee Callaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle W. Callaway, and Richard A. Waldo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Waldo, all of Orleans, took place Thursday afternoon, June 5, at the First Presbyterian Church in Orleans. Blue and white blossoms and lighted candles formed the background for the service, which was read by Dr. Frank S. Hewitt of Hastings College, assisted by the Rev. Floyd Handley of Orleans.

As the matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Meeker of Orleans appeared in a frock of ciel blue satin fashioned with a bow-trimmed belled skirt. Costumed identically in seafoam green were the bridesmaids, Miss Gwendolyn Waldo of Orleans, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Margot Brown, Holdrege.

Miss Beverly Burnside was the flower girl, and the ring-bearer was R. D. Burnside, both of Baytown, Tex. Lighting the candles were Marilyn Peterson and James Callaway, brother of the bride.

Troy Fuchser of Gordon served as best man, and the ushers were Gary Peterson, Orleans; Max Waldo, DeWitt; and Stanley Fraley, Lincoln.

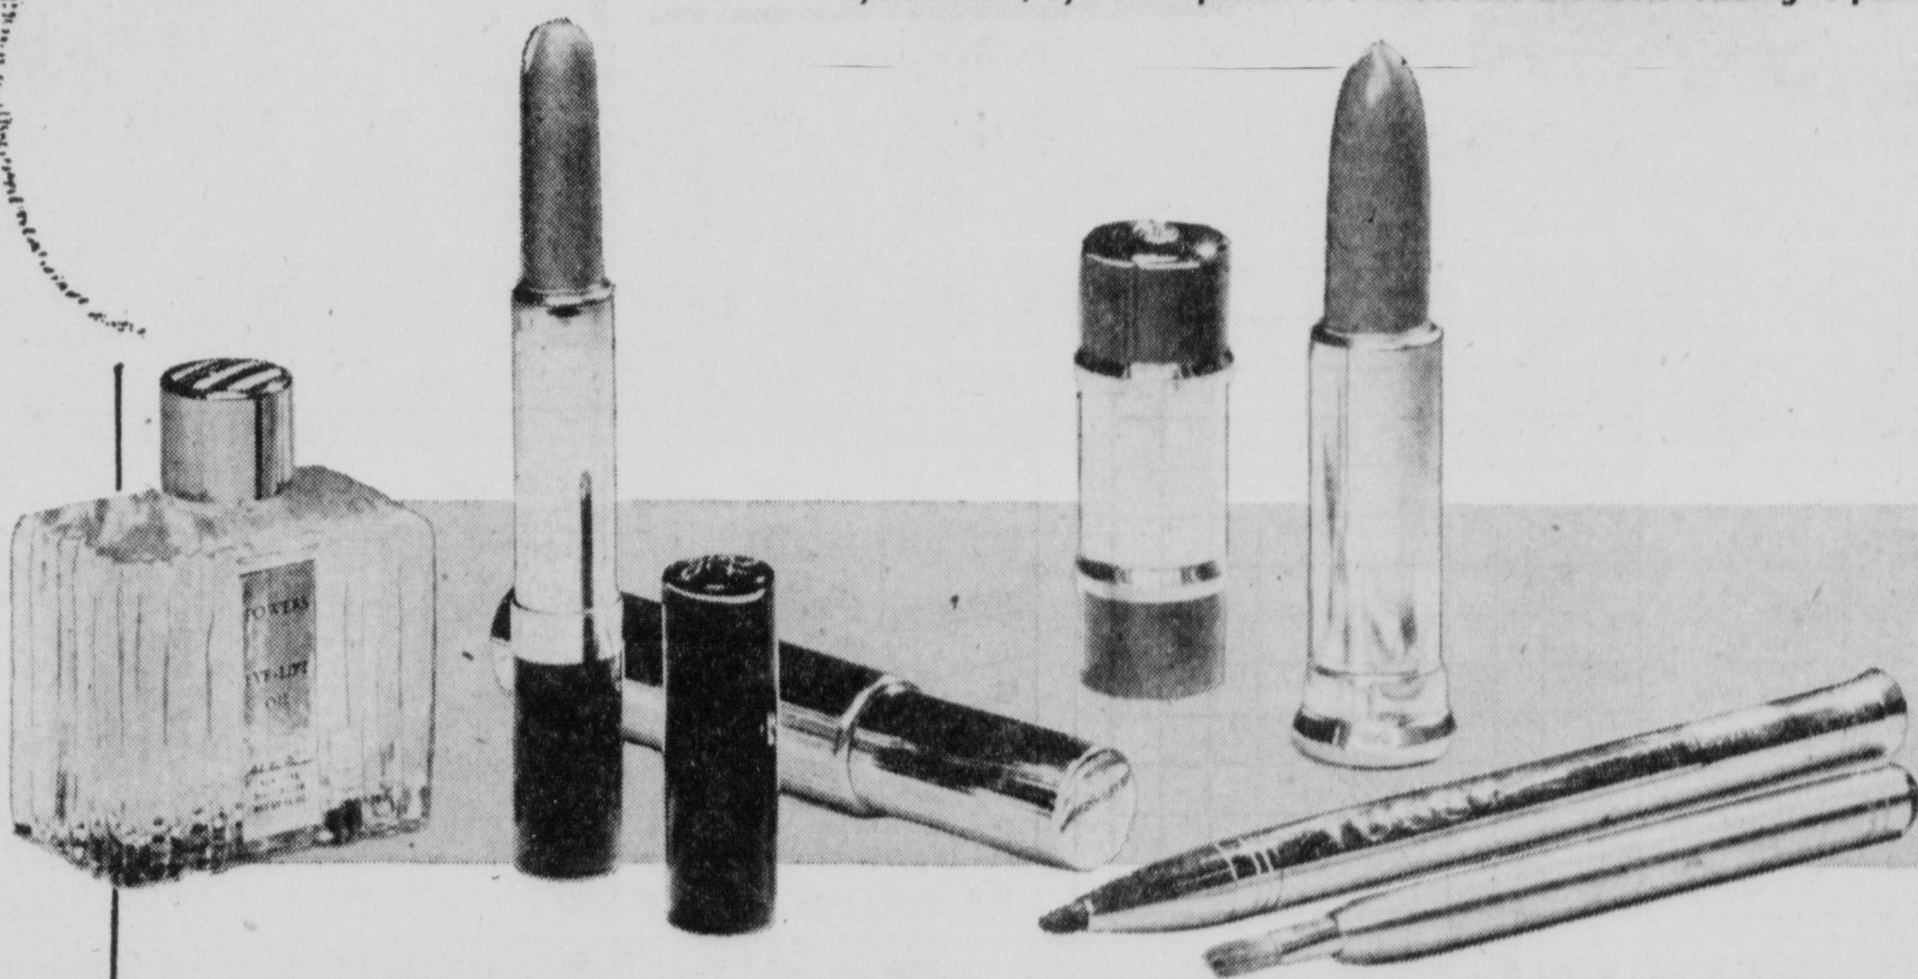

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white satin. The long-sleeved bodice was highlighted by a Sabrina neckline bordered with Venise lace, and the width of the skirt was emphasized by the fullness of unpressed pleats and ended in a train. A half-hat of pearl-trimmed lace held her veil of imported lace, and she carried a cascade of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo will make their home at 1801 So. 23rd in Lincoln where the bridegroom is a student at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Farm House fraternity. Mrs. Waldo attended Hastings College and is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and PEO.

BOLT'S 142 TOPS

Player Trails By 1 After Sub-Par 68

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—Stormy Tommy Bolt, spitting fire and brimstone, hobbled in with a 71 Friday for 142 and a one-stroke lead over South Africa's par-busting Gary Player at the halfway point of the National Open Golf Championship.

Ben Hogan, meanwhile, turned up with an injured left wrist—incurred while hitting out of the rough at the 17th Thursday—and probably bade good-bye to his hopes for a record fifth title. Hogan, in intense pain, shot 73 for 148.

On another hot and windy day of fluctuating fortunes and sandpaper nerves, Sam Snead's 17th bid for a championship he never has won ended in complete frustration. The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, West Va., his fine game in tatters, skied to an 80 for 155 and failed to make the cutoff.

It marked the first time in his tournament appearances dating back to 1937 Snead had failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Cary Middlecoff, a redhot advance favorite, barely sneaked into the break at 154, when he registered a scattershot 79, one of his poorest rounds in years.

The jut-jawed Bolt, from Crystal River, Fla., came to the 18th tee needing par for a 69 and a three-stroke lead going into today's gruelling 36-hole showdown.

He drove into the rough at the left of the dogleg fairway, played a seven shot save 120 yards short of the uphill green and then had a miserable break. His apparently perfect nine-iron pitch, straight at the pin, hit a small mound and kicked back about 45 feet. He three-putted missing a five-footer.

As he stomped off the green, an official of the tournament asked him to go between certain yellow ropes.

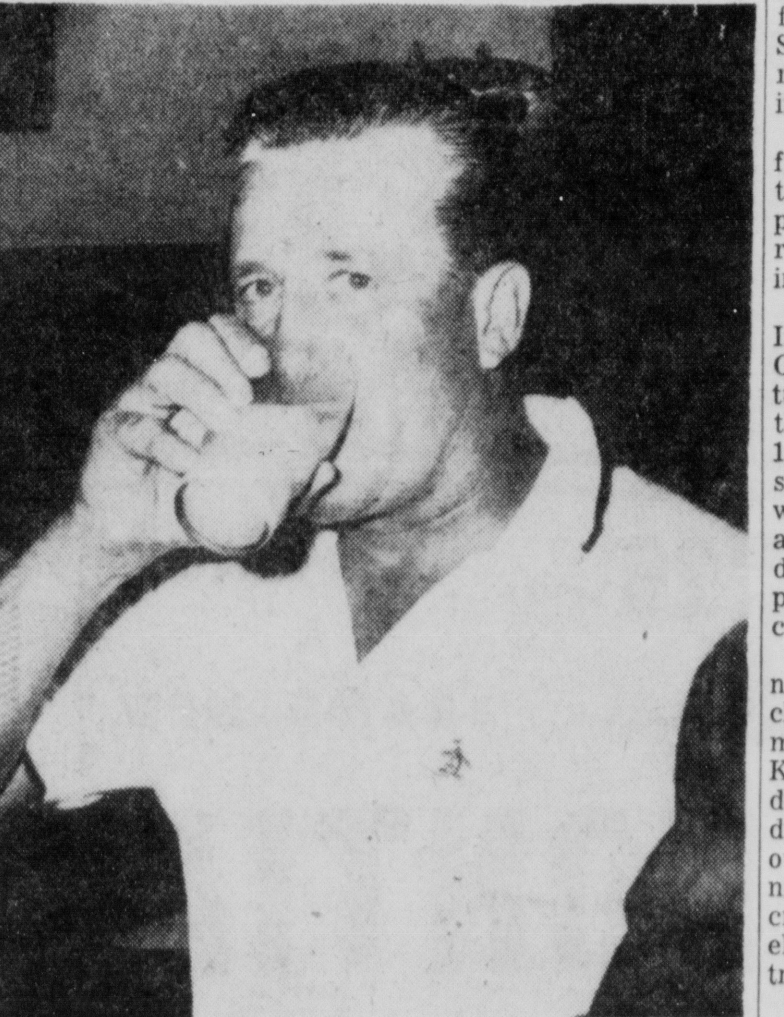

"I'll go where I please," Bolt fumed, and strode on.

Inside the locker room, grim and glowering, Bolt told newsmen crowding him for details of his round:

"I don't want to talk to you fellows. I have a representative who will do all my talking." He later retented and submitted to an interview.

In contrast to the swash-buckling, pugilistic Bolt, young Player, a 22-year-old precisionist who has patterned his game after his hero Hogan, breezed in with a 68—the only sub-par round of the tournament. He nailed birdies on five of the nine finishing holes and climaxed his round by sinking a 10-foot downhill birdie putt on the 18th.

NCAA Director Blasts Professional Baseball

Omaha, Neb. (UPI) — The executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. scored professional baseball Friday for taking prospective ball players out of college and dumping them into the uncertainty of the minor leagues.

Walter Byers, Kansas City, Mo., said "innumerable meetings" had been held with the major leagues but the NCAA had "no power" since organized ball writes all its own rules.

"Is it too much to ask reasnable people to leave college ball players alone during the school year — that gives them three months out of the year to recruit," he said. "Let him sharpen his pencils and look at is books from September through June."

He said a rule was adopted by the majors which forbade recruitment of college players from sophomore year through graduation but it was soon killed because the minors would not go along.

"We're just frustrated and disillusioned," Byers said.

pacesetter Bolt at 144 came Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, with his second straight 72 and what he called "A secret I won't divulge until I win." Stranahan, a brilliant amateur before turning pro, never won the National title.

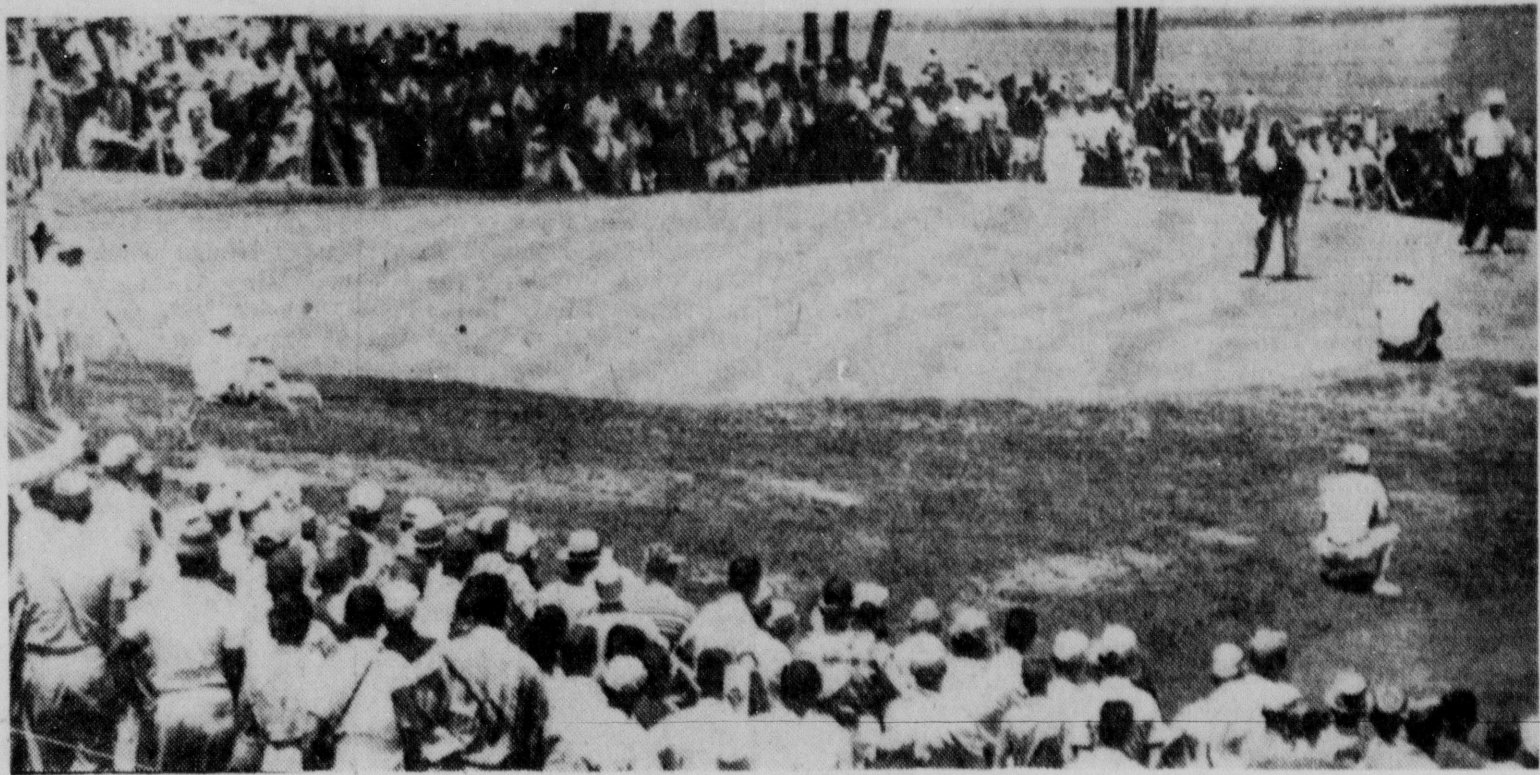

Tied at 146 were Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C. who fell off his first day pace with a 75 and two Oklahomans—Amateur Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Labron Harris, balding 49-year-old coach of the Oklahoma State golf team.

Coe, 1949 National Amateur Champion and ex-Walker Cup captain, shot a 71 in a three-some with Hogan and Player. Harris, who has a standing bet to treat 40 alumni members of his golf teams if he ever shoots an 80, under any condition, fired a 72.

Fifty-year-old Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex., whose 71 shared the first day lead with Boros and Bolt, fell off the pace with 78 for 149.

Open Gallery Follows Hogan, Player, Coe

National Open gallery stretches around the 9th green at Tulsa Friday as 3 of the top stars come in. Ben Hogan, the old master who shot 73 for 148 total, is putting. At far right is Gary Player, who fired first sub-par round, a 68, for 143 total. Seated near the pair is amateur Charlie Coe, shot a 71 for 146. (AP Wirephoto)

Gardner Gains NCAA Finals In Highs, 220

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—Keith Gardner was the only Nebraskan to come through Friday's preliminaries in the NCAA Track and Field Championships, but he'll have to face a surprise record-breaker in the 220 yard dash finals today.

Gardner won his preliminary 220 heat in 21.1, then won his semi-final in 21.0.

But Ohio University's Les Carney smashed the NCAA record for the 220 around a curve with a 20.8 clocking in the other semi-final.

With many of the nation's collegiate stars easing up through the preliminary heats and doing merely well enough to qualify for the finals in this 37th NCAA meet, Carney pulled out all the stops on his semifinal heat. His was the only record of the day.

He beat Ray Norton of San Jose State, who earlier had run a 9.4 hundred, just a tenth of a second off the world record, and Ed Collymore of Villanova, the IC4A champ. They also qualified easily for the final.

Carney's time beat the 20.9 by Northwestern's Jim Golliday in 1955.

Gardner also qualified for the 120 high hurdles final by finishing second in his heat to Stanford's Chuck Cobb, who ran 14.0. Gardner was clocked in 14.2.

Keith Young failed to qualify in either hurdle event, although he placed second in his preliminary heat in the lows, running 24.0. He missed out in the semi-finals, however.

Villanova's Ron Delany, the Irishman who won the 1956 Olympic 1500 meter run, captured his qualifying heat in the 880 with an eased-up 1:50.2. That put him in a position for a double triumph when he runs both the mile and 880 final. Villanova, the defending champ, needs those points by Delany if the Wildcats are to repeat.

Favored Southern California seeking its 20th national championship, qualified six men as did the University of Kansas. California and Occidental had five each and Indiana, La Salle and Villanova three. Southern California, penalized for football recruiting violations, was not eligible for last year's NCAA track title.

Two disappointments marred the afternoon as neither defending broad jump champion Greg Bell of Indiana, Olympic Gold Medal winner, nor favored long hurdler Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem, N.C. Teachers College reached the finals.

Gilbert, who set a 220 low hurdle record at 22.1 this spring, finished third in his heat but pulled a leg muscle and couldn't compete in the semifinals. He said he also would withdraw from the high hurdle final for which he qualified.

Also hampered by an ailing leg, Indiana's Bell leaped just 23 feet 6 inches where a jump of 23-8 took the seventh and last qualifying place. Ernie Shelby of Kansas paced the group at 24-10 1/4.

Preliminaries were held in 10 events with finals in all 14 today.

In the shot put Southern California's Dave Davis threw the 16 pound ball the farthest — 58 feet 6 1/2 inches. Buster Quist of New Mexico, the Skyline Conference javelin champion, topped qualifiers with 239 feet 9 inches. Defending champion John Fromm, Pacific Lutheran, who set an NCAA record of 248-1 last year, was second among qualifiers with 235-11.

Defending discus champion Al Oerter of Kansas led with 186-2, with Rink Bakka of USC second at 185-7.

Joe Mullins was another Husker who failed to qualify, missing in the 880. Nebraska will have 2 entries today in events in which no preliminaries were held — Mike Fleming in the mile and Ken Pollard in the pole vault.

Grain Trade Speculative

Chicago (AP)—Prices of grain futures were mostly steady to weak on the board of trade in a principally speculative trade Friday.

Nearly all contracts finished with minor fractions of a cent of the previous closes and only two—July and December wheat—came out on the plus side. They, too, were in minor fractions.

The heaviest losses were in rye but only the March delivery of that grain lost as much as a cent although all those contracts were off a cent or more a few minutes before the close.

The support in wheat was related mainly to the decision by the Department of Agriculture to extend price support benefits temporarily to the newly harvested crop even though it is stored on the ground. Under the plan, producers will have 90 days to choose government approved storage.

Within a few minutes after the opening, this report was followed by wheat deliveries substantially but profit-takers then took command and light to moderate selling pressure was applied to the remainder of the day.

Wheat closed 1/2 cent a bushel higher, July 1/2 cent, corn 1/4 cent lower, July 1/2 cent, oats unchanged to 1/4 cent lower, July 1/2 cent, soybeans 1/4 cent lower, July 1/2 cent, rye 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 cent higher, July 1/2 cent, wheat 12 cents a hundred pounds lower to 5 cents higher, July 1/2 cent.

The weakness in rye was largely profit-taking on its climb to a new high. Selling also was attributed to reports of rainfall in parts of the government Plains where most of the supply is grown.

The rainfall also was responsible for some of the pressure on corn and oats. Corn firming up slightly Thursday on scattered reports that field had been seeded in some areas. But Friday's selling was on the premise that the additional moisture in the government Plains would more than make up for the loss of the crop.

Commercial demand for all grains continued slow both domestic and foreign. The Department of Agriculture accepted a bid for 425,800 bushels of corn for export, bringing these sales to more than 10 million bushels since the program was begun May 12.

House Subcommittee Blasts New Pentagon Information Plan As 'Censorship'

Washington (UPI)—A congressional subcommittee said the Defense Department's new information plan might mean that the military would speak soon with only "one voice—the voice of a political-appointed propaganda expert."

Under the new plan, the office of assistant secretary Murray Snyder, the department's press chief, would function somewhat as a clearing house for information and maintain tighter control over news from the individual services.

However, the House Government Information subcommittee criticized the centralization feature and accused the department of using "censorship" and "cover-ups."

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), made its charges in a report to the House on its 2-year investigation of military information policies. The parent House Government Operations Committee approved the report by voice vote.

'Dedicated'

However, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.), ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said in a minority report that the group had "apparently become dedicated to self-serving 'press-agency' and its own self-perpetuation."

Hoffman called the majority report at best a heavily padded repetitive and confusing masterpiece which arrived at "false conclusions."

The subcommittee majority made a series of recommendations for improving the flow of non-security information from the Pentagon. It said that nearly all could be put into effect without any action by the Congress.

Guarantee

However, the report said Congress would have to pass major legislation to guarantee the public's right to know unless the department reversed its present negative attitude toward releasing "even the most innocuous" information.

The subcommittee majority accused the department of withholding information "about the day-to-day operations of government, ineligible by any stretch of the imagination for secrecy labels on grounds of military security." It said such practices had been carried "to an extreme degree."

Deadline Passes

Detroit (AP)—Jimmy Knoll, who was 13 Friday, was glad to see the last day of school—Friday the 13th—pass without an accident.

On the last day of school for the last 2 years, Jimmy has injured himself and spent a good portion of his vacation abed instead of playing. Two years ago he toppled off his bike and hurt his head. Last year he went swimming after school let out and broke an arm diving.

Less Railroad Income May Cut Assessments

Railroad assessments may show a slight decline this year from 1957 figures, State Tax commissioner Fred Herrington has predicted.

The tax commissioner said he is basing his prediction on the fact that railroad incomes are lower and market value on some of the railroad stock is down. These are some of the factors on which the assessment figures are based.

The 1957 railroad assessed valuation was $138,319,455.

"It should be a little lower, I think. However, we haven't worked the figures out yet," Herrington said.

He said the State Board of Equalization, which sets the values, is expected to meet next week to work on the problem. The valuation is expected to be set then.

Railroads can protest the valuations set by the board. The board then, by law, must consider the protests at its next regular meeting which in this case will be July 7.

The railroads met last May 5 with the Board of Equalization to request lower valuations and a new method of determining valuation of their property in Nebraska.

The appeal met with little success with the board.

The state board is scheduled to meet July 7 to review assessed valuation abstracts from the 93 counties.

COMMITTEE TO ALLOCATE STARKWEATHER REWARD

Gov. Victor Anderson said Friday he probably would appoint a committee to decide distribution of $2,429 in Charles Starkweather reward money.

The Governor said he would discuss committee membership with Lincoln Mayor Bennett Martin.

The Lancaster County Board recently voted to split $500 of the Starkweather reward among 5 recipients.

Reward money still to be allocated includes rewards posted after the Robert Colvert slaying Dec. 1, the first of 11 attributed to Starkweather, and rewards posted later during the January killing spree.

State Offer

The total also includes $1,000 offered by the state, but Gov. Anderson said this could not be appropriated until the Legislature meets again.

Other donors include Mayor Martin; John Carter, head of the United Garbage Assn. in Lincoln; the Lincoln Cornhusker Oil Men's Club; The Lincoln Journal; The Lincoln Star and radio stations KFOR and KLIN.

Starkweather was convicted May 23 of murder and sentenced to die in the electric chair. Caril Ann Fugate, 14, Starkweather's companion also charged with murder, awaits trial.

Jet Tanker Sets Record For U.S. Hop

Westover Air Force Base, Mass. (UPI) — A KC135 jet tanker, riding jet streams all the way from Los Angeles to the east coast, has set an unofficial, coast-to-coast record for transport-type aircraft, the Air Force announced Friday.

The tanker flew from Los Angeles to New York in 3 hours 42 minutes 45 seconds, besting the previous record, set in 1955 by an F84 jet fighter, by one minute 15 seconds.

An Air Force spokesman said the tanker's flight was compared to the previous jet record because there was no established tanker record for the course — from Los Angeles International Airport to Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y.

The Air Force said the plane, which was on a routine crew-training mission, also set an unofficial record for a Los Angeles to Boston flight. The time was 3 hours 58 minutes.

The plane did not land at New York or Boston, but continued on to Westover.

The Boeing-built KC 135, traveled at an average ground speed of 670 miles an hour, slightly faster than the speed of sound, during its flight, the Air Force said.
